Subject : Possible in house jobs taking backseat due to lack of proper material in offshore installations.

Respected Sir,

We remain immensely grateful to our EC for finding justification to our persuasion that Offshore installations are starving of technical work hand by giving sanction and aptly recruiting technical hands both in executive and non executive cadre. Unfortunately the enclosed letter speaks of non utilization of this manpower falling back on the above subject.

It has been brought to our notice by the machinists and welders working on rigs and platform that no material is available on Rigs and Platforms for making parts and for welding job. Previously the material or welding rods were available in sufficient quantity so that some parts were made by machinist or welding job were done by welder on Rig or Platform. This was not only saving time, we get quality job, as well as unnecessary expenditure can be wiped off.

During last five years we have recruited sufficient machinists and welders on Rigs and Platforms. Action may please be initiated though Rig Manager / PMM to procure the required material (iron rods, brass rods, copper rods, plates, pipes, angles and welding rods suiting to different materials etc.) of different sizes so that required parts can be prepared on Rig and Platform. Please find enclosed the list of material for your perusal.

At the same time optimum utilization of our machinists and welders will keep them busy which will help them to maintain their skill. Most importantly unnecessary contractaraization resulting into crowding of person on board and subsequent duplication on multiple heads can be eliminated, which we believe needs no elaboration to your esteemed authority.

It is earnestly requested directives/advice may please be given so that proper steps can be taken at appropriate level towards procurement of the above mentioned materials, as well as required details can also be taken from OIM and MM. Early action will facilitate in the interest of the organization.

Thanking you,
Yours faithfully,

(Pradeep Mayekar)
General Secretary
